Well, the mayor got her wish, cars on Fulton Street. Not sure how she would have handled this if she did not prevail with the cars coming back to the mall.

Now let's see how many times the mayor drives down Fulton Street. Maybe she will take Fulton Street to City Hall every day or drag the main on Saturday nights.

If it be known, she will probably make one trip down the street on opening day and you will never see her down there again — as with many other people. Oh, they will drive out of curiosity one time and after that, what is downtown to go there for?

The only way to get people downtown is to close all the other shopping malls in Fresno. Who knows, the mayor might just try that.
