I live in the Lowell neighborhood, one of Fresno's oldest, just north of Divisadero Street. To do my grocery shopping, I travel through downtown. My route takes me by many of the new and renovated residential buildings and stately homes converted to businesses.

I have always been a supporter of downtown. I moved here from north of Shaw. Something was different recently as I traveled through downtown past the neon lights of night life and viewed the up-lighting on our majestic skyscrapers. I felt a sense of excitement and my heart was racing. I finally realized this revitalized thing had made the journey from my head to my heart. I am without a doubt a believer in downtown Fresno.
