

Parra is a champion for health

Fresno April 10, 2014

<http://www.fresnobee.com/2014/04/10/3870892/parra-is-a-champion-for-health.html?sp=/99/274/277/>

As a nurse in Fresno County, whose primary responsibility is the health of my patients, I felt compelled to write about a candidate for supervisor who would be a healthy choice for our community.

The Board of Supervisors plays an important role in ensuring equitable health care is provided to all residents of our county. The decisions they make impact everything from primary care and prevention to indigent care and advocating for healthy lifestyles.

I support Daniel Parra for supervisor because he fully understands the vital role nurses play in health care. He knows nurses not only impact the physical health of our community, but also the emotional and psychological health that often accompanies medical visits. Daniel sees how essential nurses are to the general well-being of patients by providing guidance and words of encouragement in critical moments.

Daniel is the right choice for Fresno County supervisor, and I know he will continue to be a champion for the health of all of our community.

Suzanne Rogers

Kingsburg