Creating Prosperity in Fresno will host a town hall event to discuss the City of Fresno's General Plan Update on Monday, Sept. 22.

The event is open to the public and will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Bullard High School Theater at 5445 N. Palm Ave. Several city representatives will be available to answer any questions and concerns.

Creating Prosperity is an independent, nonpartisan group of civic-minded business, education and nonprofit leaders. According to a press release, the group's mission is to engage, inform and inspire fiscally responsible public policy issues that will lead to more job creation in Fresno County.

Since its creation in 2013, the group has emphasized its desire to make Fresno County more business-friendly and streamline the planning and permit process for developers. This led the city to reevaluate its permit approval process and work with Creating Prosperity's leaders to make Fresno more appealing to developers.
