PUDs are a pain

February 20, 2015

The Stonebridge Association Committee in Fresno recently voted to have more than 130 homes in Stonebridge replace the wood shingle roofing on their homes. The rationale was to save the association insurance costs.

Unfortunately, these roofs were part of the original construction, which was about 20 years ago. It will cost single residences more than $20,000 and they have less than six months to complete this without being “fined.”

Just another tale of the committee doing what they want without consideration of the homeowners. So much for PUDs!
