

Fresno-area high school students try their hands at building trades (video)

The Fresno Bee March 11, 2015 Updated 18 hours ago

Nearly 60 high school students had the opportunity to learn more about a variety of trades and have the opportunity to speak with apprentices and trades employers during the Apprenticeship Day at Plumbers, Pipefitters and HVACR Service Technicians Training Center. Video by John Walker THEFRESNOBEE

Nearly 60 Fresno-area high school students had the opportunity Wednesday to learn more about a variety of trades and speak with apprentices and trades employers during the Apprenticeship Day for high school students at Plumbers, Pipefitters and HVACR Service Technicians Training Center in Fresno.

Students had a chance to work with lumber, cut sheet metal, try soldering copper pipes use a torch to cut rebar and talk with trades people about careers during the event.

Join The Conversation