

California Job Killer

Attorney General Kamala Harris is running in California for the seat of retiring U.S. Sen. Barbara Boxer on her record as a prosecutor, which is starting to look noteworthy mainly for overkill. Her latest target is Heald College, a subsidiary of the Santa Ana-based for-profit Corinthian Colleges.

Last summer Corinthian agreed to sell 85 campuses nationwide and wind down 12 others as part of a consent agreement with the U.S. Education Department. The Department drove Corinthian out of business by choking off federal student...
