Fresno State President Joseph Castro wants to hear what Fresnans have to say about the university.

Castro will host a public forum later this month and take questions from students, staff and anyone else about Fresno State. The forum will be held from 4:30-6 p.m. on Tuesday, May 26. Attendees must RSVP to the free event using the code "Forum."

Castro has made a point to connect with the Fresno community since taking on the university's top job in 2013. He uses Twitter to talk with students, including a recent live Q&A when he answered questions about campus parking, Greek life, and even his favorite music (Prince and Eddie Money).
