The highly anticipated lululemon athletica store in Fig Garden Village has announced an opening date: July 3.

The athletic wear giant most known for its yoga pants will open in a newly rebuilt portion of the shopping center near Starbucks. The retailer sells workout clothing such as sports bras and running shorts and tops for women and men. It also carries casual clothing known for its fit and quality.

The Vancouver-based retailer isn't sharing many details about the store yet, choosing to update customers on its Facebook page. Customers have been asking repeatedly on the page about when the store will open.

Last year, a lululemon representative said the company planned to close the small showroom it runs in Old Town Clovis that's open limited hours. The new, full-scale store will be much larger and open more hours.
