

Apple Paychecks—One Reason for High Home Prices

By Laura
Kusisto

Protesters of rising home prices in the San Francisco area blame the technology sector, saying the industry's high salaries and lavish stock-option awards are fueling the increases.

But they have had little evidence to support such claims, in part because many of the cities with the highest concentrations of technology workers also have limited...